

The hackathon

HACK-IT community of practice: innovative pedagogies for responsible education

21 November 2024, 9 a.m. – 13 p.m.

Faculty of Social Sciences, Arts and Humanities

Room 202 (Aula), A. Mickevičiaus g. 37, Kaunas, Lithuania, LT-44244

At the Hackathon, we will discuss the future of teaching in the context of global challenges.

The Hackathon is open to Higher Education teachers, experts working in formal and non-formal education fields, and government representatives.

Speakers and storytellers of inspiring experiences and stories

David Tual

Language educator,
University of Cambridge, UK

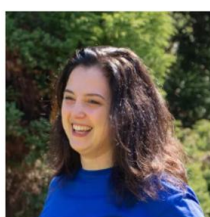

Fernanda Ollila

Anti-corruption
digitalisation expert,
University of Bologna, Italy

Abigail Gardner

Connected Listening expert, University of
Gloucestershire, UK

Jamila Blokzjil

Concept Developer,
University of Twente, The Netherlands

Rui Pedro Lopes

Teaching gamification,
Polytechnic Institute of Bragança, Portugal

Philip Reeder

Expert in immersive music and sound, University of Gloucestershire, UK

Elina Riivari

Teacher in Management and Leadership, University of Jyväskylä Open University, Finland.

Please register here by November 14, 2024

The event is free of charge. Attendees will receive a certificate.

The event will be held in English.

